IQXanywhere

IQXanywhere is IQX delivered as a hosted service, i.e. Software as a Service or SaaS.

It is run entirely in a web browser, so no client installation or server installation is required.

It incorporates all the standard IQX features, including iqxWeb and an IQXHub for running scheduled jobs.

Browser hosting requires a change to the way built in word processing works since it is not possible to take control of Microsoft Word, as the conventional IQX does. Instead there is a basic word processor within the program, combined with the ability to download and upload documents, so that they can be edited locally if needed.
